BY XʷMƏΘKʷƏYƏM (MUSQUEAM) MURALIST ALEIA JOHNNY

Land Acknowledgement

We acknowledge that South Vancouver Neighbourhood House is located on the unceded, occupied, ancestral and traditional homelands of the xʷməθkʷə́y̓əm (Musqueam), Skwxwú7mesh (Squamish) and Səlílwətaʔ/Selilwitulh (Tsleil-Waututh) Nations.

We thank the Nations for sharing their beautiful land, the sun, the air and water with us and allowing us to strengthen and grow as a family.

We recognize the vast cultural diversity of Indigenous people and acknowledge the heterogeneity of their opinions, representation, and culture.

Our Guiding Principles

Gifted to us by Ta7talíya Nahanee, a friend of neighbourhood houses and a member of a Skwxwú7mesh Úxwumixw.

"I believe I was guided to represent, respect and honour the xʷməθkʷə́yəm (Musqueam) double-headed serpent "slee-key" sʔi:ʔqə́y to remind newcomers of what happened years ago on this land. I wanted to show that the double-headed serpent is not something to fear, but a great protector of the Fraser River and surrounding area.

The butterflies at the bottom, created with the community, symbolize the harmony and respect we share with each other and the unceded tradition territory of the xʷməθkʷə́yəm (Musqueam) People."

"I love SVNH because they make you feel welcome and comfortable right away, especially as new comers adjusting to a life in a Canada. Although my family and i live close to another settlement organization I still reach out to SVNH because the staff are kind, supportive and make my family and children feel at ease. I hope they continue the amazing work they do and keep helping more families now and in the future"

Dear SVNH Community Members

What a year to reflect on — and what four years it has been. As I step down as your Community Board Chair, I do so with a full heart and profound gratitude for the honour and privilege of serving this extraordinary community.

The challenges are real. South Vancouver sits in a designated food desert, and with 1 in 4 British Columbians now experiencing food insecurity — up 44% since before the pandemic — our Food Hub has never mattered more. United Way funding reductions and the loss of key food network partners have created genuine pressure. The sunsetting of Reframing South Vancouver's dedicated funding, after five years of transformative community-building with over 4,000 residents, is a significant loss. And childcare waitlists persist for far too many families.

Despite these challenges, SVNH is the living embodiment of extraordinary resilience and forward momentum. United Way renewed two-year commitments to our Healthy Aging programs, totalling over $700,000. Childcare received $106,000 in City of Vancouver grants, with two new centres opening this spring. Youth programs secured over $140,000 in new funding. Ninety senior volunteers contributed over 10,000 hours of service. Our youth told us: "I feel included within the community."

Through all of it, Mimi and the entire SVNH team have shown what it means to serve with integrity, creativity, and heart.

I leave with deep confidence in this community's strength and in the remarkable people who carry its mission forward.

With profound gratitude,

"The Caregiver Cookie session felt warm and reminiscent of my childhood. I haven't had such an opportunity to sit and 'play' with my father in so many years. It was emotionally healing for me as it made me see that I'm still a child to him, despite me now being his caregiver and us being in a reverse parenting situation. Our time shared decorating the cookies revealed good talents we still share in art, and how the stress of caregiving has often limited our time spent together just to have fun. I just want to say thank you for the day and the activities."

Sunsetting Reframing South Vancouver

It is with a heartfelt close that we announce the sunseting of our advocacy team, Reframing South Vancouver, dedicated tackling ongoing inequities and engaging communities in South Vancouver.

We acknowledge that our work is evergreen and hope to one day revitalize Reframing South Vancouver to support the growing needs of South Vancouver residents.

We thank all of our supporters, funders and NAC members for their work towards flourishing a brighter future in South Vancouver.

Although this project is sunseting, we know that our impact has made a ripple in our communities and will continue to weave across South Vancouver.

Caregiving navigation saved my life.

by Ping Chen, Caregiver Support Coordinator at SVNH

Fred was the primary caregiver for his wife who has Parkinson's disease. For about 10 years, he took care of all her daily needs, medications, medical appointment, and transportation. The worst part was, since his wife felt embarrassed with Parkinson's and didn't like to leave home, she became more and more grumpy. Unfortunately, Fred was the only person living with his wife and had to take all these stresses. The only time he could leave this behind is when he was working in his back yard.

After times of 1-1 conversations and navigation on the health care system, Fred was glad to know about Adult Day Center which he never knew before. With information and encouragement from staff, Fred contacted South Vancouver Adult Day Centre in his neighbourhood; and then visited with his wife. They were so impressed by the beautiful space, friendly participants, fun activities, good food, and nice staff. Immediately, they applied. Fortunately, his wife got a Friday spot in a month.

"What a relief! At least, I can be myself on Fridays."

In fact, caregiving was still too heavy. Fred complained and worried about his own mental health. He was afraid, if he burnt out, who would take care of his loved one. Staff shared information about long term care. He refused immediately. He could not imagine being apart from each other. Staff gently encouraged him to talk with case managers and seek for more professional advice and updated resources. Only because of trusting in FFCS, Fred followed up. A case manager found his case was urgent and arranged a nursing home for his wife in just a couple of months, in March, 2026.

Currently, almost every day, Fred takes bus to visit his wife and has a walk together after having a good lunch at the nursing home. On weekends, Fred drives his loved one back home and the family meets together. Fred says it is not apart but like a date everyday!

"Caregiving navigation saved me before I burnt out."

Treasurer's Report

South Vancouver Neighbourhood House (SVNH) had an operating deficit of $103,912 on March 31, 2026, after countless effort by the whole organization to seek additional funding and cost cutting. The board has committed to restricting a portion of the surplus funds to save for operational contingencies and to help pay for capital repairs and replacement to maintain SVNH's facilities and infrastructure.

In the year-to-year comparison, overall revenue increased 4.8% and expenses increased 5.6%. Strong support came from the provincial government. The municipal government was also very active in many program areas. Further support poured in from federal government, as well as individual and corporate donors.

4.8% ↑ revenue 5.6% ↑ expenses

In 25/26 fiscal year, SVNH had received significant increase of funding from Child Care. Also, City of Vancouver contributed significant funding to the startup of Salmon Stone Childcare Centre.

The new fiscal year promises to bring excitement as the SVNH team continues to focus on increasing community equity, building connected neighbourhoods, raising SVNH's visibility, and creating stability through diversified funding. Please continue to support us and follow SVNH's development.
